Digital Schools Award

- Achieved our Digital Schools Scotland Award on 27 Sep 2024. Very positive feedback in the validation report.
- Roseburn Primary School is now listed and appears as a Digital School on Digital Schools Scotland Website.
- Recommendations:
- Roseburn Primary School's self-evaluation gives a comprehensive overview of the digital work of the school over the last few years. This was supported by a wide range of documentary evidence as well as a Sway presentation containing photographs, video, screen shots and web links of digital learning in action in Roseburn Primary School
- The validation session was well organised and consisted of discussions with the head teacher, digital leader, the tech team, five class teachers and six groups of learners from across the school.
- I recommend that Roseburn Primary School receive the Digital Schools Award in recognition of their use of digital technologies. This school is well placed to support other settings on their digital journey. I recommend this school for the role of mentor school.

Sharing Learning Sessions

- Feedback for the sessions is very positive
- Children love sharing what they are learning about
- Attendance is not high at these events- what would encourage more families to come along?

Bonus Ball

- One child from each class joins the Bonus Ball discussion about learning at weekly sessions with Mrs B. This is an opportunity for the children to share something they have learnt, if they were successful (or not), and how did they know. They have an opportunity to share ideas about school improvement, and what would help their learning improve. Feedback is shared weekly with staff.
