

Literacy

Writing: imaginative Writing, focusing on the beginning, middle and end parts of a story.

Handwriting: lower case letter formations.

Grammar: capital Letters to start a name, to start a sentence, for personal pronoun (I) and for personal title (Mr, Mrs)

Spelling: vowel digraphs (these will be highlighted in homework jotters each week)

Reading: I am beginning to use some strategies to find relevant information in a text.

Numeracy and Maths

Place Value:

I can partition a number into tens and ones and describe the value within the range 0-100, e.g. 37 = 3 tens, 7 ones

Multiplication and Division:

I am beginning to recognise the multiplication symbol (x) and the division symbol ($\div$)

I can describe a simple array using the language of rows and columns.

I can share items into smaller equal groups, e.g. Share 12 counters between 2 people?

Data & Analysis:

I can record the information given to me using tally marks

I can create a pictographs, diagrams and graphs to display the data I have gathered.

Wider Curriculum Subjects

- Religious and Moral Education:
I can develop an awareness of the ways in which Christians celebrate at different times of year and can relate this to my own life and community
- Music: Youth Music Initiative (Scots Songs)
- PE: Fitness & Gymnastics (Agility, balance, coordination)
